

Navigation/header/banner:

This section will be the content above the fold. It will include a logo and navigation bar.

The navigation bar will be static even when the page scrolls or jumps to a new section.

In the center of the landing page will include the name and title of the client, and a view portfolio button that jumps to the work section when clicked.

I would like to add animation that allows the name and title to toggle between the two on loop.

The break between each section would have a section head that would be work, resume, and contact.

Work section/main:

Includes video portfolio pieces.

When hovering over the thumbnails the image slightly increases in size and a transparent background color appears along with a video description.

Once the thumbnail is clicked the work section slides down and the video appears 100% of page width.

Resume section/main:

This section will simply include work history, experience, education, and technical skills in a text form format.

Contact Section/footer:

This section will list a phone number, email, and city location.

It will also include forms where a potential client can enter their name, email, and leave a message. A send button will be underneath the message form.

Also social media icons will link to social media sites.

Lastly copyright text.
